

July 7, 2021

Dear Valued Customer,

I am writing to inform you that Hillrom will discontinue production of several of our Welch Allyn® Physical Assessment products and configurations by the end of September 2021 - helping ensure customers have the durable, world-class products they expect.

Hillrom is excited about the recent launch of some new configurations of our Integrated Wall Systems, Desk Sets, Diagnostic Sets, and individual components.

Many of these sets feature the new Welch Allyn® PanOptic™ Plus Ophthalmoscope and MacroView® Plus Otoscope to support clinicians and health systems with the following features:

- Long-lasting LED illumination for brighter views and added reliability
- Option to digitally capture and share images of the ear exam for consultation
- Quick Eye™ Alignment indicator lights designed to support better alignment to the optic disc
- Wide fields of view to help see more of the eye or ear anatomy
- Backwards compatibility with existing Welch Allyn 3.5V power handles

There will be further product discontinuations in this product category to follow. As part of this recent launch, we have updated and upgraded our most popular configurations, and will be discontinuing configurations and components with legacy technologies.

Please see the following pages of this letter for the list of affected part numbers, and the new most similar part number.

If you have purchased any of the components or configurations that are affected, or plan to make a purchase before end of their production, be assured we are considering your needs by providing service and support for up to five (5) years or as long as parts and components are available.

To obtain more information about these products from Hillrom or to create a transition plan for your facility, please contact your local Hillrom Sales Representative.
